Introduction
The HP Desktop Access Center is a sleek device that fits neatly under your TFT monitor, freeing up desk space and providing functionality for everyday needs. The Desktop Access Center gives you a single point of access for audio while improving accessibility to USB devices. Its features include Hands-free communication for telephone & Voice over IP communications, high speed USB, a MultiBay slot and a jack for external speakers. The HP Desktop Access Center is Bluetooth-ready for wireless communications. The HP Desktop Access Center can be used alone or integrated into the foot of a selected display thereby saving additional space.

Overview

Key Benefits

- Single point-of-access for classic desktop peripherals – Communication, USB, and MultiBay drive technology
- Hands-free communication for all audio needs.
- Access point for Communications. Single noise canceling headset for telephone and PC. Microphone mute button and headset adjustment controls providing high-quality voice communication.
- Reduced desktop clutter and improved efficiency with easy access to USB and audio connections and optical media.
- Easy access to USB devices through 4 USB 2.0 high-speed ports. Ideal for scanners, printers, cameras and other USB peripherals.
- Access to HP MultiBay technology.
- Various security options available including a Security Loop that leverages a Kensington lock on the monitor or PC, screws to secure MultiBay devices and an upgradeable Bluetooth option.
- External speaker jack avoids need to plug integrated monitor speakers or stand-alone speakers back to the PC.
- Worldwide power supply.
